Business Profile

Business reporting: objective, credible and reliable

Your job is deciding who to grant credit to and how much credit to grant. This doesn't have to be a time consuming task, where you might not find the information you need to make an informed decision. Business Profile from Experian can help you make informed decisions quickly and easily.

How we are different

Business Profile is different from other credit reports in that our information is based on objective third parties reporting actual payment history. Our trade data is collected from credit grantors like you to ensure quality and consistency. One of our most popular reports, Business Profile gives you detailed information drawn from a variety of sources.

90% of companies are classified as small business enterprises in the United States today. As you know, finding information on small businesses is often difficult. Experian is the recognized leader in capturing data on small businesses. If you need information on larger, publicly held corporations — we have that information too. Just look in the Standard and Poor's section on page 12 of this booklet, and you will

Know the day-to-day risk potential

With Business Profile a business' risk potential is expressed using Days Beyond Terms (DBT). The DBT provides a single value for determining payment status, expressed as the average number of days past the "invoice due" date. This information is then augmented with other information to give you a detailed understanding of a firm's creditworthiness.

In addition to trade payment trends, Business Profile contains public record information including bankruptcies, tax liens and Uniform Commercial Code filings. Business Profile also provides company background information to help identify potential fraud by validating a company's identity. There is a wealth of information provided in this report.

Company profile format in Doccgimunich.gov.inDetails Formatsize: 6 KBDownload What is a company profile? For a simple definition of the term, this is the professional introduction of a company to the public. Within the short profile, customers and investors can learn what their products and services are, along with their goals and values through statements or subtext. People who create business plans and other important documents often include a company profile sample to give their readers a more complete perspective than they have to offer. How to Write a Company Profile While you can always get an example of online company profile or download a template, it pays to learn how to write one from scratch. Having said this, the process does not need to be excessively difficult for those who are new to it. Just follow these steps and you should do just fine. Step 1: Place important information first Near the beginning of your profile is where certain information should be placed. This will include your company name, your physical location, any contact list information you may want to disclose, your site URL and your date of establishment. Step 2: Providing a TimelineNext will be a short summary of what your company has gone through. You can also include important events such as expansions, any mergers and when your subscription products or services have been introduced. Doing this will give customers enough knowledge of where you have been. Step 3: Express your values In addition to this brief history lesson, make sure your mission statement and values are at least partially stated within the company profile. The reason for this is to help give your customers more reasons o o aires rluclni rereuq iav⁹Acov euq sasioc samitl⁹A sad enOnoW soim⁹Arp riulcl¹ :4 ossaP .acram amu omoc aserpme aus me ratiderca e raifnoc won for your company. To do this will allow these wonderful examples of achievements to serve as the core on top. After giving them reasons to take care of, specifying their achievements will only serve to add even more to their legitimacy. FAQsIt may not require more than a few sentences at least. The point here is to include necessary information about your company, provide information about what you are all about, and what you have accomplished. All of them can be expressed concisely by anyone with extensive report or article writing experience. A company profile describes what your company is in a brief way. However, an executive summary does not need to include anything about the company as a whole. It can be about the overall business strategy of a company, for example. What they have in common is that they are mostly quite brief. Yeah. It is perfectly acceptable and easy to send customers a copy of your company profile by email. This can be part of your branding strategy even. With a company profile, you are in a better position to let others know what your business is all in just a few sentences. In addition to official process documents, these can be viewed openly by your customers on your website, social media platforms and other public domains. Now that you are better educated on this topic, all that remains is to decide on how you will make your own profile. Should you create one with your own words or get some help from a free company profile model? Decide quickly so you can act as fast as possible! Documentary evidence, accreditation certificates and political information can be sent and managed from your account, then displayed throughout the Profile. For a document to be loaded, you must: Be less than 8MB in size Be in an unpublished format, for example pdf, tif orNot to be an editable format, for example, docx or xlsx If you need to compress, convert, merge, split or reorder documents 'First PDF' PDF' a fantastic tool that will help manage file size and file formats etc before uploading. Some Document slots require a single document. Other slots accept multiple documents. All Document slots will display a small single or multiple document icon. Premium Members maintain a single Profile.Á For Basic Members, each Profile is maintained individually and this is the same for documents; making document management tailored to the contractor(s) you are completing for. Use the eÁÁÁSelecteÁÁÁ option to switch which documents are being displayed on your Profile. Use the eÁÁÁVieweÁÁÁ option to check that the correct document(s) is being displayed on the Document slot. Within the Document Library, eÁÁÁBlueeÁÁÁ items are documents stored in the library and available to display against any Document slot in the current Profile. eÁÁÁGreeneÁÁÁ items are stored in the library and selected to display on the relevant Document slot. Clicking eÁÁÁ(Unselect)eÁÁÁ next to a eÁÁÁGreeneÁÁÁ item removes a document from display. Clicking on a eÁÁÁBlueeÁÁÁ item displays it on the specific Document Slot and will turn to eÁÁÁGreeneÁÁÁ when displayed. Always use the eÁÁÁVieweÁÁÁ option to check which Document(s) are being displayed. Trouble Shooting Documents When uploading documents named the same as documents existing in the library, they do not overwrite but are added as duplicates. There is no facility to delete documents from the Document Library. Main contractors only see the documents displayed within the Document slot. If specific documents need removing from the library, please contact the Support Team who will be happy to discuss the options available. Sometimes you may need to convert a JPG image to another type of format. You can do this in various ways. Read how. Use an Online ConverterOne of the simplest ways to convert .jpg files to a media sharing file format like png, PDF or TIFF is by using a free online converter. These online tools allow you to convert various file types and are available on dozens of free websites. Many websites allow you to convert up to 20 images at once. Just load the files you want to convert to the site and then convert them and download to your computer in a ZIP folder. You have to extract the files before you can preview them. File extensions will describe the new file type, such as png. You can convert a jpg image using the Photos app on Windows. Once the program is open, select the images you want to convert. In a guide along the top, look for Edit and Create. The drop-down menu has a labeled option Edit with 3D Painting. Open the image within the program, click "Save as" in the File menu, and then choose the file type option for conversion. If you want to convert your jpg file to PDF, instead of Edit and Create, choose Print. Click on the option for "Microsoft Print to PDF", and a box appears to save the file as a PDF. Use Preview on MacIf you have a Mac, you can follow a similar process on your computer using Preview. Open the photo you want to convert with Preview and click "Export" in the File menu. Click the format you want to export and then save the photo. Again, if you want a PDF, instead of exporting, click on "Print" and select PDF in the bottom left corner. Use your Smartphone You can also convert files of your smartphone, installing one of free and paid apps. This is a very way to convert images taken with your phone from the phone. It saves the step of transferring your photos to your computer before converting. More than
